

Press Release

23 April 2015

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

SOURCE at Leeds College of Art

1 - 22 May 2015 at Blenheim Walk, Leeds, LS2 9AQ

An exhibition of work by emerging international artist Meghan Jean is on display at Leeds College of Art in her first solo exhibition entitled 'Source'.

Meghan Jean is a visual artist living and working in Oakland, California. She brings with her some Californian sunshine with a large-scale exhibition of painterly collages of contemporary landscapes, still life and portraits.

She is interested in the potential of painting to describe things that are in states of change or repetition, contrary to the material stasis of paint itself. All images are created - whether by drawing or painting then dismantled and re-assembled by the artist. The results are surprising and sometimes odd, but reveal new meanings and ways of seeing through suggested narratives.

Press Invite

Press are invited to Blenheim Walk Gallery, Private View on Thursday 30 April 2015, from 17.00-20.00 where you will be able to meet Meghan Jean. Please RSVP to: Emma Morris at emma.morris@leeds-art.ac.uk or 0113 202 8044.

Editor's Notes

For more information & images contact:

Emma Morris, PR & Communications Officer, 0113 202 8044 or emma.morris@leeds-art.ac.uk

More info about the exhibition here

The exhibition will run from 1 to 22 May 2015 at Leeds College of Art's Blenheim Walk Gallery, Leeds, LS2 9AQ.